Today's lessons:

- Amos 7:7-17 Amos is a shepherd from the Southern Kingdom (=Judah), when God calls him to be a prophet in the North (=Israel). There Amos has to tell the priest Amaziah and King Jerobeam that the Northern Kingdom will be destroyed.
- Psalm 82 Here and a few other times in the Old Testament other gods are mentioned. But they are mentioned only to show that the Lord God is judge over them, accusing them of favouring powerful evildoers over the weak.
- Colossians 1:1-14 Paul thanks God for the Christians in Colossae, a city in Asia Minor.
- Luke 10:25-37 When a lawyer challenges Jesus to define the term 'neighbour', Jesus answers by telling the parable of the Good Samaritan.

Not only gods...

...but every human being should do, what this verse from today's psalm tells us:
(Hint: it's what the Good Samaritan does!)

Greetings from Paul

Scholars are not sure if the Letter to the Colossians was really written by the apostle himself or by one of his co-workers. Anyway, it is written so that neither the Colossians nor we forget what Paul has been teaching about Jesus Christ.
